OPERATIONAL LOGISTICS - ASSIGNMENT ON CASE OBSERVATIONS
Topic of Case Observation: Freight forwarding office activities are field activities and verification by GST invoice and e-way bills.
Case 3: Shipping goods to international markets involves several tasks. Business houses may have their in-house arrangements to ship goods abroad or they may rely on freight forwarders to do this for them, they would also prefer to handle non-core activities such as packing, freight forwarding etc. In a freight forwarding company like GIST office activities related to documentation management are crucial to ensure smooth international shipment. Document collection gathers necessary shipping documents from various sources, including invoice, bills of lading, export licenses and certificates of origin. Data entry from collected documents into the company's database or shipping software to create electronic records of shipments, prepare and manage customs-related documents, such as import/export declarations, to ensure compliance with international regulations.

NAAN MUDHALVAN - CASE STUDY

Case studies

Case Study 1: Company XYZ is a freight forwarding company handling international shipments. Explain the office activities involved in documentation management.

Answer: Office activities related to documentation management in freight forwarding include receiving and reviewing shipping instructions, preparing and verifying required documentation such as bills of lading, commercial invoices, export declarations, and certificates of origin. Additionally, office staff coordinate with customers, suppliers and carriers to ensure all necessary documents are obtained and properly filed. They also maintain records, handle data entry and archiving, and liaise with regulatory authorities for compliance purposes.

Case Study 2: Company ABC is a freight forwarding company seeking the best freight rates for their clients. Explain the office activities involved in freight rate negotiation.

Answer: Office activities related to freight rate negotiation in freight forwarding include researching and contacting various shipping lines, airlines, trucking companies, and other service providers to obtain competitive freight rates. Freight forwarding staff analyze client requirements, cargo volume, destination, and timeline to negotiate favorable rates. They also handle rate contracts, ensure accurate rate quotations, and provide cost estimates to clients. Office personnel may engage in ongoing rate negotiations, contract renewals, and maintaining relationships with carriers to secure the best possible rates.

Case Study 3: Company PQR is a freight forwarding company specializing in cargo consolidation services. Explain the field activities involved in cargo consolidation.

Answer: Field activities related to cargo consolidation in freight forwarding include receiving goods from multiple suppliers and inspecting them for quality and quantity. Field staff coordinate the loading of different shipments into containers or transport units, ensuring efficient space utilization and secure packing. They may use various equipment and tools to handle cargo, such as forklifts, pallet jacks, or cranes. Field personnel also oversee the sealing and labelling of consolidated shipments, ensuring compliance with shipping and customs requirements.
