A STUDY ON MIGRANT CHILD LABOUR IN CHENNAI CITY, TAMILNADU

Ms. S. Jayasutha[1] Dr. K. Paramasivan[2]

ABSTRACT

Child labor remains a concerning issue in India, with migrants constituting a significant proportion of working children. This paper examines the state of migrant child labor in Chennai city. It aims to study the socioeconomic profiles of migrant child laborers, understand the factors compelling child migration and labor, and analyze the nature of works migrant children are engaged in. The proposed study intends to explore the migration paths of these children, recruitment mechanisms, wages and work conditions, and health/education impacts. Findings will provide insights into rehabilitation needs and developing targeted policies for mitigating migrant child labor in urban India. Further research can focus on effective models of rehabilitation, role of source communities, and long-term tracking of migrant children.

Keywords:child labor, migrant children, urban migration, Chennai, child work, Rehabilitation

INTRODUCTION

A migrant worker is a person who migrates within a home country or outside it to pursue work. Migrant workers usually do not have the intention to stay permanently in the country or region in which they work. Migrant workers who work outside their home country are also called foreign workers. They may also be called expatriates or guest workers, especially when they have been sent for or invited to work in the host country before leaving the home country. The International Labour Organization estimated in 2019 that there were 169 million international migrants worldwide. Some countries have millions of migrant workers. Some migrant workers are undocumented immigrants or slaves.

CHILD LABOUR

Child labour refers to the exploitation of children through any form of work that deprives children of their childhood, interferes with their ability to attend regular school, and is mentally, physically, socially and morally harmful Such exploitation is prohibited by legislation worldwide, although these laws do not consider all work by children as child labour; exceptions include work by child artists, family duties, supervised training, and some forms of work undertaken by Amish children, as well as by indigenous children in the Americas.

Child labour has existed to varying extents throughout history. During the 19th and early 20th centuries, many children aged 5–14 from poorer families worked in Western nations and their colonies alike. These children mainly worked in agriculture, home-based assembly operations, factories, mining, and services such as news boys – some worked night shifts lasting 12 hours. With the rise of household income, availability of schools and passage of child labour laws, the incidence rates of child labour fell.

Six adults sleep in the same house. Three other children are sleeping in the same room. One child vanishes in the middle of the night. The family has no clue. Were they drunk. Under the influence of drugs .Basically, the novel "400 Days'' travels as the journeying in the mind of a mother and her unremitted ransacking of her thirteen-year-old child Siya Aurora who went missing for 400 days. It's quite a long period for a mother to survive without her daughter. The novel chosen for the study is unique, as it focuses on the sensitive issue of girl child abuse. In a way he has traversed the genre of the detective fiction into an eye-opener of the inhuman atrocities committed to girl children. Chetan Bhagat also describes in his book about the different threats related to the life and society for girl children.

Keywords: Child Abduction, Social Evils, Holistic parenting

INTRODUCTION

Chetan Bhagat was born in New Delhi in a middle-class Punjabi family on 22 April 1974.His debut novel 'Five Point Someone' was published in the year 2004.The bestselling writer for his first book 'Five Point Someone' which brought a revolution as an onset of tedious grade systems is a trendsetter. The novel was later tailored into a movie in Bollywood.

His second book "One Night at A Call Center" was published in the year 2005.Bhagat's third novel "The 3 Mistakes of My Life" which was released in the year 2008, also became a hit. Chetan Bhagat's fourth novel '2 States', was published in 2009.This fiction unwinds the religious barriers of two different cultures from two different states. The novel counted a major success and featured into the movie '2 states' that struck millions of hearts in India.

Bhagat's next venture Half Girlfriend was published in 2014 which was a magical masterpiece which includes the themesof Young Bihari boy struggling to speak in Standard English, Women empowerment under -funded and Underdeveloped rural schools with no toilet facilities.

"The Girl in Room 105", published in 2018, also became pleasurable outcome for the fans of Chetan Bhagat as it travels around religious disparities prevailing in the Indian families for not affirming the love relationships of their loved ones.

'Your son brings a Muslim girl home, and you are not concerned?' my father said. I couldn't tell exactly what my crime was. That I brought a girl home or Muslim home? May be both.Why, beta? Is there anything to worry?' my mother said in her most soothing voice. Worry, Zara and I together counted as 'worry,' I guess.Maa, didn't you say she was beautiful?' I spoke.

Abstract:

Singapore is a high-income economy with a gross national income of $47,210 per capita as of 2012. The country provides the world's most business-friendly regulatory environment for local entrepreneurs and is ranked among the world's most competitive economies. Singapore rapidly developed from a low income country to a high income country. Rapid industrialization took momentum in the 1960s and, by the end of the decade, manufacturing had become the lead sector of the country's economic growth. By the early 1970s, Singapore had reached full employment. In the 1980s, Singapore had joined the ranks of Hong Kong, South Korea and Taiwan among the newly industrializing countries in Asia. It is currently ranked among the world's most competitive economies. Presently, the strong manufacturing and services sectors have become the twin pillars of the Singapore economy. There is a wide range of businesses, with a particular focus on high value added activities.

Key words: Banking System, Business, Economic Development.

History of Singapore Banking

Singapore is located on the southern tip of the Malay Peninsula in Southeast Asia, between the Indian Ocean and the South China Sea. Singapore's location has helped the city-state grow to become the largest port in the region, and one of the busiest in the world. The country is the third most densely populated in the world with almost 5.399 million people made up of Chinese, Malays, Indians, Asians of various descents, and Caucasians. Singapore claimed the title of fastest-growing economy in the world that has $297.9 billion gross domestic product with GDP growth of 3.9% according to World Bank 2013.

Central Bank of Singapore

The Monetary Authority of Singapore or also called MAS is Singapore's central bank and financial regulatory authority. It manages Singapore's exchange rate, foreign reserves and liquidity in the banking sector. MAS is also an integrated supervisor overseeing all financial institutions in Singapore -banks, insurers, capital market intermediaries, financial advisors, and
