Course Topic :“Food Analysis”

Course	Outcome
I	Understand the principles of food analysis methodologies.
II	Apply various techniques for food composition analysis.
III	Apply various techniques for food composition analysis.
IV	Interpret and report food analysis results accurately.
V	Demonstrate proficiency in laboratory skills relevant to food analysis.

DEPARTMENT OF CHEMISTRY

Course Objective

Naan Mudhalvan Programme on EV Battery Management

Summaries the principles of electric vehicle (EV) battery technology and its significance in sustainable transportation.

- Gain proficiency in managing and maintaining EV batteries, including charging, monitoring, and diagnostics.
- Recognize the strategies for optimizing EV battery performance, extending lifespan, and ensuring environmental sustainability.
- Develop skills in analysing battery data and implementing efficient battery management practices.
- Explore emerging trends and innovations in EV battery technology for future applications.

Course Outcome

Naan Mudhalvan Programme on EV Battery Management

Demonstrate a comprehensive understanding of EV battery technology and its management.

- Implement efficient charging strategies and maintenance practices for EV batteries.
- Analyse battery data and apply diagnostic techniques for monitoring battery health.
- Optimize EV battery performance and lifespan through effective management techniques.
- Identify and discuss emerging trends and sustainable practices in EV battery technology.

Electric Vehicle Safety Features: Explore safety features specific to electric vehicles, crash avoidance technology, and emergency response protocols

Electric Vehicle Safety Features:

- Battery Management Systems (BMS)
- Structural Integrity
- Low Center of Gravity
- Crashworthiness
- Battery Thermal Management

1. Battery Management Systems (BMS):

1. BMS monitors the health, temperature, and state of charge of the battery pack.
2. It prevents overcharging, deep discharging, and thermal runaway, ensuring battery safety.

2. Structural Integrity:

1. EVs are designed with strong structural integrity to protect the battery pack during collisions.
2. Many EVs use a skateboard-style chassis, with the battery pack forming a low center of gravity for enhanced stability and safety.

3. Low Center of Gravity:

1. The placement of heavy battery packs in the floor of the vehicle results in a lower center of gravity, reducing the risk of rollovers and improving handling.

4. Crashworthiness:

1. EVs are engineered with advanced crumple zones and reinforced passenger compartments to absorb and distribute crash forces away from occupants.

5. Battery Thermal Management:

1. Thermal management systems regulate the temperature of the battery pack to prevent overheating, which can lead to fires or thermal runaway.
2. Liquid cooling or air cooling systems are commonly employed to maintain optimal battery temperature.

Crash Avoidance Technology:

- Collision Warning Systems
- Lane Departure Warning
- Blind Spot Detection
- Adaptive Cruise Control
- Automatic Parking Assistance

• Collision Warning Systems:

- Forward collision warning systems use sensors to detect potential collisions and alert the driver to take evasive action.
- Some systems include automatic emergency braking, which can apply the brakes to mitigate or avoid a collision.

• Lane Departure Warning:

- Lane departure warning systems use cameras or sensors to detect unintended lane departures and alert the driver to steer back into the lane.

• Blind Spot Detection:

- Blind spot detection systems monitor the vehicle's blind spots and provide visual or audible alerts if a vehicle is detected in adjacent lanes.

• Adaptive Cruise Control:

- Adaptive cruise control adjusts the vehicle's speed to maintain a safe following distance from the vehicle ahead, reducing the risk of rear-end collisions.

• Automatic Parking Assistance:

- Automatic parking systems use sensors and cameras to assist the driver in parallel or perpendicular parking maneuvers, reducing the risk of collisions with obstacles or other vehicles.

Emergency Response Protocols

- Emergency Shut-off Procedures
- Vehicle Identification
- Battery Isolation
- Collaboration with Manufacturers
- Public Awareness Campaigns

- Emergency Shut-off Procedures:

- Emergency responders are trained to locate and deactivate high-voltage systems in EVs to mitigate the risk of electric shock or fire during rescue operations.

- Vehicle Identification:

- Emergency responders are trained to identify EVs and locate relevant safety information, such as the location of the battery pack and high-voltage components.

- Battery Isolation:

- Specialized tools and procedures are used to isolate the high-voltage battery pack to prevent electrical hazards during extrication or firefighting

• Collaboration with Manufacturers:

- Emergency responders often collaborate with EV manufacturers to develop specialized training programs and protocols for handling EV-related incidents.

• Public Awareness Campaigns:

- Public awareness campaigns are conducted to educate drivers and emergency responders about the unique safety features and protocols associated with electric vehicles.

Naan Mudhalvan Programme on EV Battery Management

The program has been crafted to align closely with the most recent methods for maintaining EV batteries, offering students a solid foundation in comprehending and managing them. It ensures students gain practical experience, enhancing their understanding of monitoring and maintenance practices for EV batteries. This approach, combined with a broad curriculum covering various aspects of battery management, fosters skill development and prepares students to tackle real-world challenges effectively.

DEPARTMENT OF CHEMISTRY

Summary Report

Naan Mudhalvan Programme on EV Battery Management

As part of the Naan Mudhalvan initiative, a 5-day training session was conducted, with Mr. Thirumurugan from Rareminds serving as the course trainer. During this session, Mr. Thirumurugan delivered a comprehensive presentation on "EV Battery Management." The students gained valuable insights into several key areas, including:

1. Safety Measures and Protections in Battery Management Systems (BMS): Understanding the importance of safety protocols and protective measures in ensuring the safe operation of EV batteries.
2. Battery Health Monitoring and Estimation: Learning methods for monitoring the health of EV batteries and estimating their condition to prevent potential issues and ensure optimal performance.
3. Optimizing EV Battery Performance: Exploring strategies and techniques for maximizing the performance and longevity of EV batteries through efficient management practices.
4. Integration of IoT for Battery Status: Understanding the role of Internet of Things (IoT) technology in monitoring and managing the status of EV batteries in real-time.

The training session proved to be highly beneficial for all final year B.Sc Chemistry students, equipping them with valuable knowledge and insights into the management of EV batteries.
